USDA

USDA launches a tailored learning experience

THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE (USDA)

AgLearn, the USDA training platform, switched to Totara not only for its core functionality but also for the platform's flexibility, which would allow it to adapt to the department's ideas and strategies.

USDA AgLearn Results

- Standard Form-182 (SF-182) External Training Request module

- External vendor content integrations

- A more efficient and flexible administration experience for a decentralized and large administrator audience

- Cost savings that can be used on enhancing learning strategies rather than licenses and technical fees

The AgLearn team migrated from a legacy application to the TotaraGov platform. It now provides a robust and secure solution that accommodates our current 140,000 end users, 2,000 administrators, within thirty unique agencies.
